The central thesis of Fritjof Capra's 'The science of Leonardo' is that Leonardo was the founder of the scientific method rather than Galileo a century later. He has a point, but since Leonardo's notebooks were only recently indexed in full, it is hardly relevant for the actual history of science. More thought provoking is mr.

At an even deeper level, Leonardo's decoration conveys in symbolic form his conviction that human industry should integrate itself harmoniously into nature's living forms. Indeed, it may not be too far-fetched to see the vinci decoration of the Sala delle Asse as a symbol of Leonardo's science. The individual trunks, or columns, on which it rests, might be seen as the treatises he planned to write on various subjects, grounded in the soil of traditional knowledge, but intended to break ...
